Building trust across the world's divides

“There is enough in the world for everyone’s need, but not enough for everyone’s greed.”

— Frank Buchman

Frank Buchman

Frank Buchman was a revolutionary thinker and leader whose trust-building, reconciliation and peace efforts have greatly influenced the 20th century. His vision and legacy are a powerful answer to the growing mistrust, injustice & extremism facing the world today. Today’s world urgently needs positive role models - leaders devoted to the greater good of their communities and the world. Frank Buchman inspired thousands to address global challenges, yet his work remains largely unknown.

About the film

Over six years ago, a team of filmmakers began production of a documentary, which includes unique archival footage and firsthand testimonies of change as a result of Buchman’s influence. The film documents Buchman’s unique peace-making approach of transforming society through personal change and reconciliation. It transcends culture, generations and countries, setting the viewer on a path towards a broader understanding. After celebrated screenings at the Illuminate Film Festival and Caux Forum, and numerous awards, we are bringing the film to wider audiences.
